

clac
CÍRCULO

de lingüística
aplicada a la comunica
ción

ROMANCE LANGUAGES AND LINGUISTIC COMMUNITIES IN THE UNITED STATES

Manel Lacorte and
Teresa Cabal Krastel (eds.)

Selected papers presented at the colloquium that took place at the University of Maryland, College Park, in 2000.

College Park, MD, October 2002

Latin American Studies Center, University of Maryland

ISBN: 00-9721345-0-6

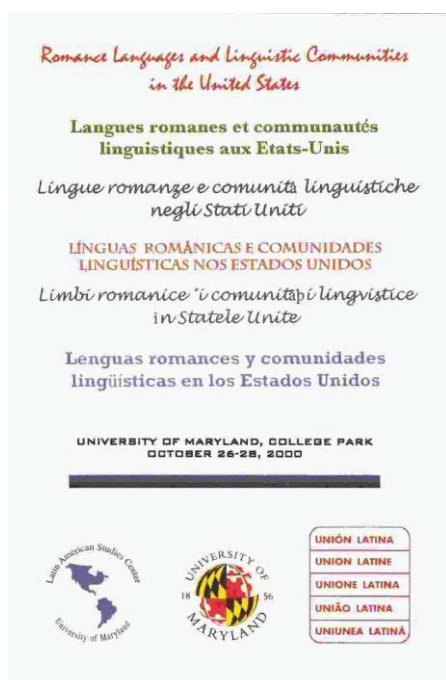

Table of contents

Introduction, prologue

Plenary sessions

Teaching and learning Romance languages

Mass media and new technologies in the Romance languages

Images, functions, and sociocultural issues in Romance languages

Introduction

Manel Lacorte and Teresa Cabal Krastel

Prologue

Saul Sosnowski

Plenary sessions

Richard D Brecht

“Language in the United States: Sea change and rising boats”

Elizabeth B Welles

“Romance languages in the US: Perceptions of the field from Thomas Jefferson to the millennium”

Teaching and learning Romance languages

Sanda Golopentia

“Teaching Romance languages in the US: The invisible part”

Myriam Met

“Foreign language policy in American schools: Who decides?”

Andrew D Cohen

“Innovative approaches to language teaching and learning and their impact on the acquisition of Romance languages”

Colleen Ryan-Scheutz

“Cultural connections for intermediate courses: Joining language and literature with Italian popular culture”

Elmano M Costa

“The renaissance of Portuguese studies in California: The partnership of community and university”

Albert Valdman and Tom Klingler

“Standardization or laissez-faire in linguistic revitalization: The case of Cajun and Creole in Louisiana”

Harold Ormsby

““Why am I doing this?” Thoughts on minority-language teachers and teaching”

Mass media and new technologies in the Romance languages

Marcel Danesi

“Mediated language: The role of media in the evolution of the Romance languages”

Alain Clavet

“Le Gouvernement du Canada et le français sur l’Internet”

Armando Guzmán

“The role of Spanish language television in 21st century America”

Patrizio Nissirio

“The Sopranos on the Ferrari: Reality and myth-making of Italian culture in America”

Ricardo Soca

“El español: Una lengua transatlántica en la Internet”

Rebecca Oxford

“New ways of knowing: Romance language education via new technologies in the new millennium”

Images, functions, and sociocultural issues in Romance languages

Jaime Bernal Leongómez

“Las lenguas romances, integradoras del conocimiento entre las naciones”

Daniel Coste

“Plurilinguisme: De la diversité des images à la complémentarité des fonctions”

Massimo Fanfani

“Vitality of languages in the diversity of their roles: Italian in the era of global communication”

Esther Grossi

“A Aprendizagem das Línguas e a Construção da Inteligência”

Jose Eduardo Agualusa

“De Lingua de Cobra a Lingua Matria. O português de Angola: idioma nacional, transnacional e de pacificação”

Eduardo Hernandez Chavez

“La lucha para el mantenimiento del español frente a la hegemonía del inglés”

Maria Carreira

“Preserving Spanish in the US: Opportunities and challenges in the new global economy”

Romance Languages and Linguistic Communities in the United States. Círculo de lingüística aplicada a la comunicación, 14, 2003, 63-65.

Universidad Complutense de Madrid, ISSN 1576-4737, <https://revistas.ucm.es/index.php/CLAC>.

Publicado: 3 de mayo de 2003

Actualizado pdf: 20 de marzo de 2023