GLOBALIZATION, COMPETITION AND GOVERNANCE OF EMPLOYMENT AND WORKING CONDITIONS IN EUROPE: STRUCTURES, ACTORS AND STRATEGIES STATE OF PLAY & DIRECTIONS OF CHANGE

Economic globalisation has created serious tensions for the governance of employment (working conditions, unemployment and retirement) in all European countries. The changes affect all actors in labour relations (unions, employers' associations and governments alike) as well as their practices (collective bargaining, company management and public policies). Furthermore, the changes affect these players on all levels of action, from the European Union down to nations, regions, and each and every company.

The 2001 IREC Conference aims to serve as a point of encounter where participants can study these crucial issues in theoretical terms and analyse current changes with their sights set on the future. The list of WORKSHOPS gives an indication of the areas of reflection for those who wish to submit papers. All of the WORKSHOPS will deal with the issues involving actors, structures and strategies.
