

Papers on History of Law

ISSN: 1133-7613

Vol. extra

2004

---

| Summary   | Pages   |
|---|---------|
| IntroductionJosé Sánchez-Arcilla Bernal  | 11-13   |
| A Spanish Noble at the Baroque. Don García de Toledo, 6th Marquis of Villafranca (1585-1649)Quintín Aldea Vaquero                       | 15-32   |
| The control on the political literature after the period that opens after the Cadix ConstitutionJuan Antonio Alejandro García                      | 33-47   |
| The creation of the Chambers of Commerce. The Chamber of Commerce of GijónRafael Anes Álvarez de Castrillón  | 49-62   |
| Poverty, Wealth and Industrial RevolutionFrancisco Bustelo   | 63-71   |
| Digging up the foundations of the Spanish History in its Medieval perspectiveDiego Galán   | 73-86   |
| Around the "historicity" of Criminal LawManuel Cobo del Rosal  | 87-96   |
| The Franco's utopy: the Robinson Crusoe economyJosep Fontana   | 97-103  |
| Felipe IV's Junta Grande de Competencias: King, nobility and Councils in the Catholic MonarchyLuis María García-Badell Arias                       | 105-136 |
| The Legal Slope of Sophocles' ElectraLuis Gil  | 137-146 |
| The historical sense of Monarchy as a State regime (how to take advantage from article 1.3 of the Constitution)Miguel Herrero y Rodríguez de Miñón | 147-161 |
| Property and abolition of the lordly regime. A case studyRemedios Morán Martín   | 163-178 |
| Europe and the United States: political cultures and juridical values in conflictRaúl Morodo   | 179-187 |
| Government and Justice at the End of the Ancien RégimeAlejandro Nieto  | 189-202 |

|   | Pages   |
|---|---------|
| Some historical reflections about the organisation of provincial CouncilsJosé Orlandis   | 203-210 |
| Notes on the judicial discretion usque ad mortem in the Ancien RegimePedro Ortego Gil  | 211-233 |
| The Codification projects of Pompei and Cesar in Saint Isidore of SevilleJavier Paricio  | 235-248 |
| The documentation of property law and the stellionatus offence(Castille, 15th to 18th centuries)Pedro Andrés Porras Arboledas                   | 249-278 |
| Domingo Antunes Portugal. A baroque lawyerMagdalena Rodríguez Gil  | 279-292 |
| The legislative work of the Council of the Revolutionary Government (1895-1898). The influence of Spanish Law on the Cuban civil marriage act of 1896José Sánchez-Arcilla Bernal | 293-320 |
| The impact of the Spanish History of Law in the International LawLuis Ignacio Sánchez Rodríguez  | 321-335 |
| The resignation of law in the notarial practice of sucesory law in CastilleLourdes Soria Sesé  | 337-350 |
| Some historical and legal reflections on Catalonia's differentiated realityGustavo Villapalos Salas  | 351-371 |